A Message From the President...

Your Kentucky Board of Architects has had an active 2006. We will now have two compliance officers who will assist our Investigations and Review Committee for infractions to our laws. In addition to Robert Bortner, Paul Hoffman was recently hired by the Board. Mr. Hoffman is both a Registered Architect as well as an Attorney and we look forward to his contributions to our efforts. I'm also pleased to announce the Board voted unanimously to reduce the annual fee for the classification of Emeritus Architect allowing architects meeting the criteria to use the title if they choose to retire from practice. I personally look upon this title as a token of respect and a "badge of honor." The highlight of the year, however, has been the passage of Senate Bill 62 which increases fines and gives the Attorney General's Office more clout in working with local County Attorney's in the prosecution of offenders. All of us owe a debt of gratitude to Senator Dick Roeding who chairs the Licensing and Occupation Committee. He and his staff worked diligently to make Senate Bill 62 a reality. We should also thank our local representative for the American Institute of Architects as well as Executive Director Rex Cecil in the success of this effort. Finally, your Board of Architect is working with practitioners from around the state toward the development of a new legislative agenda which we hope to introduce in the 2008 Session of the Kentucky General Assembly.

Retraction...

In the last newsletter sent December 15, 2005, the President's message primarily concerned recent action by the Board relating to a project involving an unnamed architect and the University of Kentucky College of Design in Menifee County. The message erroneously stated that "laws were nevertheless violated." The licensee involved in that case was disciplined but did not admit any wrongdoing and, maintained that he acted appropriately. The discipline agreed to was a settlement reached prior to a hearing by the licensee and the Board in consideration of uncertain resolutions which could have occurred after a full hearing. The community and the College of Design continue to work together towards a resolution of the issues and these efforts are appreciated by the Board.

From the Executive Director's Desk...

We are about halfway between our renewal cycles for architects. We recently finished renewals for CIDs, auditing architects (final reports and letters are forthcoming) and are currently auditing certified interior designers for their reported continuing education activities. Before we know it annual renewals again will be sent for the next fiscal year. Hopefully, in the very near future we will be making some changes that should simplify the renewal process for us all. In the meantime, I will share a few comments and observations.

Helpful Hints When Renewing (In No Particular Order)

- Fill out your own renewal form – do not rely on someone else to do it for you.
- Do not mix Health, Safety & Welfare (HSW) and Related Practice Subjects (RPS) activities together on the Continuing Education Report form. That is why our form separates them. It makes it easier for us to verify your activity count. By the way, it's the public's health, safety and welfare we're talking about, not yours.
- If you have more than the necessary requirements in HSW activities – list them even before you start listing RPS activities. And list as many as space permits.
- Write clearly - that's something you should be able to do.
- Do not use AIA Course Reference numbers. Provide the complete information we ask for. In Kentucky we do review your activities for accuracy and appropriateness. And do not send attachments, e.g. your AIA transcript.
- Consider this when you fill out your renewal form. We are not always familiar with the continuing education activity. Therefore, providing the complete information the Board has requested on the renewal form is often important in determining the acceptance of your renewal submittal.
- Under the Kentucky Revised Statutes you are required to maintain documentation or proof of your continuing education activities for a minimum of 2 years. (refer to 201 KAR 19:087).
- Finally, READ THE FORM before you fill it out. You wouldn't believe how many checks we receive payable to the "Board of Architects". We are not the same as Kentucky State Treasurer.

When You Call the Board Office

- Identify yourself
- You make the call – don't delegate it to someone else. Regarding the business of licensees, many boards will not talk to anyone other than the licensee. We are here to assist you – we're not here to train your office staff in your responsibilities.
- When you call or email us our staff will make every effort to answer your questions or provide assistance as politely, quickly and efficiently as possible.

NCARB Service

As you may have known, Louisville architect H. Carlton Godsey served the architectural profession with highest distinction while recently completing his term as President of the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards. He continues to serve on a number of NCARB committees. A number of other resident Kentucky architects have either recently served or are currently serving on NCARB committees, including George Collignon, David Heyne, David Mohny, Jill Lewis Smith and William P. Mullins III.

Kentucky Serves as the Host Regulatory State for the 2006 Annual NCIDQ Conference

The Kentucky Board of Architects and Certified Interior Designers were proud to be the host regulatory state for the National Council of Interior Design Qualification (NCIDQ) held in Louisville at the Seelbach Hotel November 10-12. Over the past six months three staff members and two board members were actively involved in the planning the meeting, preparing the agendas, securing guest speakers, and assembling Welcome to Kentucky gift bags.

NCIDQ state delegates were updated on NCIDQ committee activities, elected new officers, amended and voted on resolutions, reported and heard reports from other jurisdictions, and began exploring possible changes to NCIDQ's educational requirements, strengthening IDEP, and the implementation of a national certification program. In addition to these discussions, three break out sessions were conducted discussing educational evaluation: the CIDA comparable process; Minimum educational requirements and possible rolling clock for the exam; and NCIDQ's new technology system.

Jan Bast (California) was installed as 2007 NCIDQ president and Sandy Friend (Oregon) was installed as President-Elect. Two additional board members were elected: Sharon DeBianco (Florida) and Debbie Steinmetz (Louisiana).

The Council of Delegates voted on nine NCIDQ bylaw amendments. All resolutions passed. Four resolutions were strictly housekeeping. Other resolutions included 1) requiring the president-elect to be elected from the Council of Delegates, instead of appointed by the Board of Directors, 2) requiring that four of seven certificate holder directors shall have served as delegates or alternate delegates; 3) Board of directors term of service was reduced from six years to four; 4) requiring the Nominating Committee to nominate and the Council of Delegates to elect, a new person to fill any vacancy on the Board; and lastly 5) changing the composition of the Nominating Committee.

NCIDQ staff informed everyone that they are updating their technology systems and updates will be introduced throughout 2007. One exciting feature will be a new online system for exam candidates to apply online and this feature will go live January 24, 2007.

Next year's annual meeting will be held in Seattle, Washington November 9-11, 2007.

BROADLY EXPERIENCED ARCHITECTS PROGRAM

By: George Collignon, Board Member

The Broadly Experienced Architect (BEA) program is intended to give U.S. registered architects who do not hold a professional degree in architecture* the opportunity to qualify for the NCARB Certificate.

Who is eligible?

You are eligible for the BEA if you can demonstrate that you:

- have been registered as an architect in any U.S. jurisdiction for at least six, eight or ten years, depending on level of education completed, and that you
- have comprehensive experience in architecture for a minimum of six, eight or ten years, depending on level of post high school education completed. In order to fulfill this requirement, this comprehensive experience must have been in the state where you are registered, or if it is not, it must have been under the supervision of an architect registered in the state where the experience took place.

What is the process?

The steps through the BEA process are:

- Establish an NCARB Council Record (if you do not have one).
- Obtain an EESA-NCARB evaluation of your post-secondary education from the National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB). If you have fewer than 64 semester hours of post-secondary education, you will not need to obtain this evaluation.
- Prepare a dossier of your work that illustrates your learning from experience in areas that have been identified as deficient in the EESA-NCARB evaluation. If you have fewer than 64 semester hours of post-secondary education, your dossier must cover all subjects of the NCARB Education Standard.
- Your BEA dossier will be reviewed by three BEA Committee members.
- If the dossier sufficiently demonstrates the required learning, the Committee will invite you to appear for an interview.
- If you successfully verify your learning through experience in the interview, you will have satisfied the NCARB education requirement for certification.
- Your Record will be evaluated and, if all other requirements have been met, you will be recommended for certification.

How long does it take?

Nine months to one year. You should expect the compilation of your Council Record to take three to six months. Your EESA-NCARB evaluation will take three to five months and can be done concurrently with the compilation of your Council Record. NCARB will send you instructions on how to prepare your dossier as soon as your EESA-NCARB evaluation has been completed. The BEA Committee meets three times a year, usually in the fall, winter and spring. Deadlines for submission of dossiers are usually several months prior to each meeting. If the Committee comes to consensus that you have demonstrated the required learning, you will be invited for an interview at the Committee's next scheduled meeting. For instance, if your dossier is reviewed during the fall meeting, you will appear for the interview at the winter meeting. Meeting locations vary.

*A professional degree in architecture means a degree that is accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board (NAAB) or the Canadian Architectural Certification Board (CACB) or education outside the United States and Canada that has been evaluated by the Education Evaluation Services for Architects (EESA) and been found to satisfy the NCARB Education Standard.

Statute of Repose, Statute of Limitations and Certificate of Merit Legislation. Did You Know?

- 1) Statute of Repose legislation would place time limits on professional liability.
- 2) Statute of Limitations legislation would place time limits on professional liability after a defect is discovered.
- 3) Certificate of Merit legislation would require a malpractice claim be accompanied by an expert witness report verifying that a standard of care has been breached.
- 4) Kentucky is the only state without a Statute of Limitations or Statute of Repose law.
- 5) Only a few states have certificate of merit legislation, the number is growing.
- 6) Several Board of Architects members along with over twenty other interested Architects and AIA officers have started working on Statute of Repose, Statute of Limitation, and Certificate of Merit Legislation here in Kentucky for Architects and Engineers.
- 7) If you would like more information or are interested in the subject you may contact Larry Brandstetter or Jill Lewis Smith.

CLOSING THE DOOR ON CID GRANDFATHERING...

July 15, 2006 brought an end interior design certification by the method of prior experience (grandfathering). The grandfathering clause was initial slated to expire in 2002, and with the endless support of Representative Ron Crimm, grandfathering was extended for two additional years. Thus on July 15 the Board office officially closed certification by grandfathering.

The past four years were very exciting and the board office has certified many qualified interior designers, fostering a new level of excellence in the interior design field for the Commonwealth. Throughout the years, the grandfathering clause has resulted in 183 designers filing applications seeking certification and of those, 115 were certified

Currently, a total of 239 Certificates have been granted by the Board and an additional 70 plus applications are pending.

What an exciting time for the profession!

With the end of Grandfathering many are asking what are the methods for seeking Certification. They are as follows:

Main Track (with a CIDA (formerly-FIDER) Degree)

- 1) A four year degree from a FIDER/NAAB accredited school
- 2) Successful completion of the NCIDQ exam
- 3) Two years of experience under:
 - a. an NCIDQ certificate holder
 - b. a licensed architect
 - c. interior designer who is licensed/certified/registered in a state

Main Track (with a non-CIDA (formerly –FIDER) Degree)

- 1) Successful completion of the NCIDQ exam
- 2) Education
 - 5 years of education NEED 2 years of experience
 - 4 years of education NEED 3 years of experience
 - 3 years of education NEED 4 years of experience
 - 2 years of education NEED 5 years of experience
- 3) Experience under:
 - a. an NCIDQ certificate holder
 - b. a licensed architect
 - c. interior designer who is licensed/certified/registered in a state

Reciprocity

Any Interior Designer licensed/registered/certified in another jurisdiction can seek certification in the Commonwealth.

Licensed Architect

Any licensed architect in Kentucky can apply for Certification by virtue of successful passage of the ARE.

DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS

The following individual was disciplined by the Board

James J. Walters, Louisville, KY – The Board alleged that Mr. Walters had committed acts in violation of KRS 323.020 by practicing architecture during a period when his license was revoked for non-payment of renewal fees. He was fined $10,000.00 plus required to submit all related reinstatement and renewal fees and submit a continuing education activities report for 24 PDUs as required prior to reinstatement.

Additionally, the Board is pursuing legal action in the 48th District, Circuit Court, Frankfort, KY and the 30th District, Circuit Court, Louisville, KY against individuals illegally assuming the title of architect and practicing as architects in accordance with KRS 323.230. Women In Architecture

Since the official registration of architects in Kentucky in 1930, a total of 160 women have registered with the Kentucky Board and received licenses. In 1938 the first woman, Louise Leland, was licensed in Kentucky. Her license number was 183. The first woman to be appointed to the Board was Sylvia H. Waller of Lexington in 1976 as the Public Member, serving for twenty-five years. She was followed by Helen H. Hunt, Ashland, KY and briefly by Robyn R. Phillips, Russell Springs, KY. The first woman architect appointed to the Board was Jill Lewis Smith of Louisville on February 6, 2001. Since Mrs. Smith's appointment there have been 51 women architects registered in Kentucky, or 31.8% of the 160 total since 1930.

Emeritus Status Fee Amended

At the May 2006 Board meeting the current Emeritus Architect fee policy was discussed. The Board recommended lowering the annual fee from $125 to $50. The previous requirements as mandated in 201 Kentucky Administrative Regulations 19:087, Section 3 are to remain the same, as follows:

1. Is at least sixty-five years old;

2. Has requested emeritus status at the beginning of the license renewal period; and

3. Has retired from practice.

The regulations amendment process at LRC has been initiated and we anticipate the change will be approved.
