BOA PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

STEPHANIE MCCRERY – KENTUCKY BOARD OF ARCHITECTS

I bring you greetings from the Kentucky Board of Architects and Certified Interior Designers. I hope the New Year has started great with an optimistic, fresh blank slate!

At our recent January quarterly board meeting, we were pleasantly surprised to learn that the overall count for licensed architects had increased and certifications for interior designers only recorded a slight decrease. With the pandemic still roaring and registration exams limited, we had anticipated large decreases in licenses and certifications. These numbers were welcoming news to the board hopefully signifying a healthy rebound in the economy.

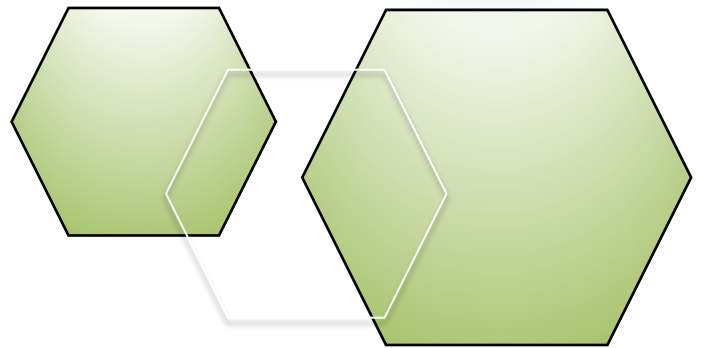

BOA PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE CONTINUES.

The board also reviewed a number of disciplinary cases. Although not as pleasant as licensing and certifying individuals, it is the job of the board to discipline and sometimes revoke licenses and certifications. The board is charged to do this in order to safeguard the life, health, property, and welfare of the public. In a new feature, you will find a summary of the disciplinary cases on page 6.

Also, have some fun by testing your knowledge on page 3. There you will find ten questions pertaining to architects and CIDs. Grab a colleague in the profession and have some friendly competition.

Take care and stay safe!

OUTSCHOOLED

DESIGN COMPETITION FROM BERNHEIM

OUTSCHOOLED is Bernheim's new design competition for creating innovative, affordable, practical, and healthy outdoor classrooms. Along with other criteria, designs must be capable of being realized for $5,000 (or less) and can be digital or hand-drawn.

They must be in color and include the following: overhead plan drawing, up to 3 drawings showing perspective and detail and a text describing the design idea, construction technique, materials, maintenance needs and budget.

Both amateur and professional designers can submit, and both team and individual designs are welcome. Top designs will receive cash prizes.

Deadline for submission: February 26, 2021. For complete details, go to <https://bernheim.org/outschooled/>

CURIOUS MIND CORNER

WHAT IS INTERIOR DESIGN?

© 2019 COUNCIL FOR INTERIOR DESIGN QUALIFICATION, INC.

Interior design encompasses the analysis, planning, design, documentation, and management of interior non-structural/non-seismic construction and alteration projects in compliance with applicable building design and construction, fire, life-safety, and energy codes, standards, regulations, and guidelines for the purpose of obtaining a building permit, as allowed by law. Qualified by means of education, experience, and examination, interior designers have a moral and ethical responsibility to protect consumers and occupants through the design of code-compliant, accessible, and inclusive interior environments that address well-being, while considering the complex physical, mental, and emotional needs of people.

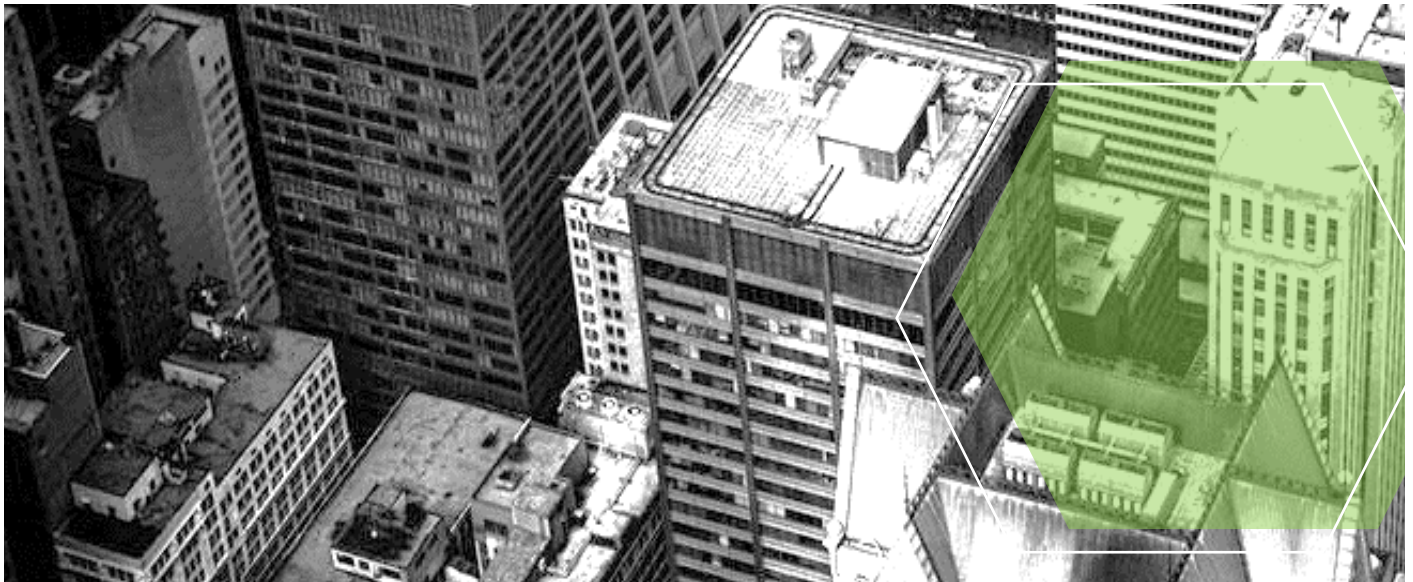

ARCHITECT REGISTRATION EXAMINATION® (ARE®) 5.0 CUT SCORES

JUST RELEASED FROM NCARB

If candidates took the Practice Management exam between December 14, 2020, and January 27, 2021, their score report will be processed per their jurisdiction's requirements and may already be viewable in their NCARB Record. If they have tested since January 27 or have a Practice Management exam scheduled in the future, they will be able to receive provisional feedback at the end of your administration and can expect to receive their score report within a few business days of testing.

NCARB anticipates releasing the score reports for Project Management and Project Planning & Design next. The expectation is to release score reports for Programming & Analysis, Project Development & Documentation, and Construction & Evaluation last.

NCARB has stated they will provide updates on the anticipated release of exam scores as necessary, and the candidate will receive an email alert once their score report is ready to view in My NCARB.
